SUMMARY OF MESSAGE

Tonight we are talking about InsideOut being more than a moment, it is a movement. The idea we are presenting to students is that InsideOut isn't just a moment that happens every Sunday night but our goal is that it would become a movement that spread through the hallways of their schools, families and communities. The reality is that InsideOut remains a moment if students won't step up and invite. We are going to challenge them to get off their "buts." We all have excuses as to why we can't invite someone or why we won't; but the reality is when we are able to get off our "buts" we are able to shift from a moment to a movement.
